

Realization of Ministry of Defense Benefits

Realization of Ministry of Defense This RAG application serves as a closed-loop system for Ministry of Defense regulations. It retrieves answers exclusively from verified, official source documents to ensure maximum accuracy. The system never provides outside suggestions or hallucinations, explicitly stating if an answer is not found in the database.

Deliverables for Section 2:

- 1. Description of Data Source

The knowledge base consists of text files containing Ministry of Defense rights and regulations, which were collected through targeted queries using Google Gemini across multiple sessions.

- 2. Explanation of Chunking Strategy

The system splits the text by paragraphs while attaching [CATEGORY] headers to preserve semantic context instead of using a rigid character-count split. This strategy was specifically chosen to maintain the logical flow and integrity of the regulatory data.

- 3. Explanation of Embedding Model Used

The system utilizes the ibm-granite/granite-embedding-97m-multilingual-r2 model via the Hugging Face Inference API. This model was selected for its lightweight architecture and its native ability to process multilingual data efficiently.

- 4. FAISS Indexing Implementation

The vector database is built using Meta's FAISS library, specifically employing the IndexFlatIP (Inner Product) index. Combined with L2 normalization, this configuration ensures high-quality and accurate semantic retrieval.

I asked the application for travel recommendations in London. Although the application stated that it does not know based on the information it has, it still offered information from the internet.

Can you provide a list of the top tourist attractions to visit in downtown London?

תשובה מבוססת מסמכים:

I do not have enough information in the documents, but based on general knowledge, some top tourist attractions in downtown London include the Tower of London, St. Paul's Cathedral, and Borough Market.

Prompt Optimization and Refinement

- During testing, when asking: “I have a 50% PTSD rating, what is my car entitlement?”, the system initially failed to find the exact vehicle benefit and instead provided general PTSD-related suggestions from the retrieved context.
- To resolve this and ensure absolute accuracy, two optimizations were implemented:
- Prompt Enhancement: Added rule #5 (Strict Focus), explicitly instructing the LLM to answer only the specific topic asked and completely ignore any unrelated information within the retrieved context.
- Hyperparameter Tuning: Increased the retrieval parameter from $(K=3)$ to $TOP_K = 5$ to provide a wider selection of relevant text fragments, ensuring specific details are captured without missing information.

evere disability rating. Can my children receive funding for their university tuition

תשובה מבוססת מסמכים: 🌟

Yes, your children can receive funding for their university tuition. Children of severely disabled veterans with a disability degree of 50% and over are entitled to comprehensive educational sponsorship, including full funding of 100% of academic tuition fees for a bachelor's degree or professional engineering diploma.

סימוכין מתוך קובצי המקור שנמצאו: 📄

סעיף מקור מס' 1

According to the [CATEGORY: HIGHER EDUCATION FOR CHILDREN AND FAMILY TUITION SUBSIDIES] Welfare and Benefits Division regulations, children of severely disabled veterans (recognized with a disability degree of 50% and over) are entitled to comprehensive educational sponsorship. This package includes full funding of 100% of academic tuition fees for a bachelor's degree or professional engineering diploma at recognized public universities and academic colleges. The department also provides yearly textbook grants, automated registration fee reimbursements, and targeted financial support for learning disability assessments (Achuva Testing). For veterans holding 100% disability, these academic benefits are fully extended to include the spouse or legal partner for career retraining programs.

סעיף מקור מס' 2

According to the Rehabilitation [CATEGORY: REHABILITATION, VOCATIONAL TESTING, AND TUITION] Department policy, any veteran recognized with a disability degree of 20% and over is entitled to a full academic package. This includes 100% coverage of university or college tuition fees for a bachelor's degree. It also covers a monthly living stipend (living allowance) during the period of studies, provided the student maintains a full-time academic schedule. The department also finances professional retraining courses, vocational psychodiagnostic testing, and matches the veteran with employment coordinators to ease insertion into the modern high-tech or public job market.

סעיף מקור מס' 3

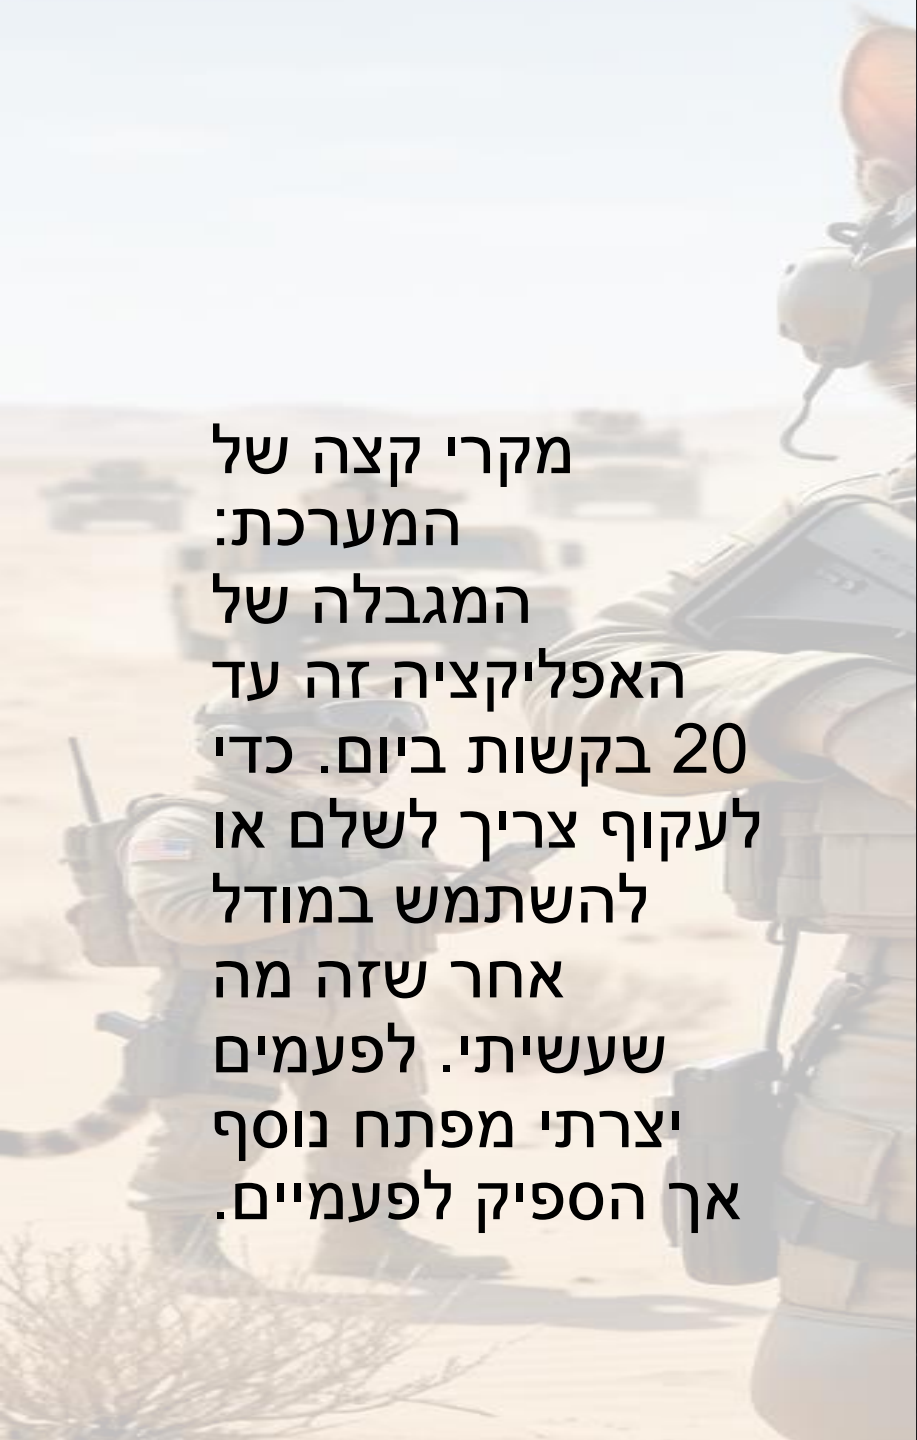

Under Directive 84.04 of [CATEGORY: HOSPITALIZATION, CONVALESCENCE LEAVE, AND MEDICAL SPAS] the Disabled Rehabilitation Department, the family of a hospitalized injured veteran is entitled to immediate financial assistance. This includes full or partial reimbursement of travel expenses to the hospital, economic expenses, hotel stays near the medical center, babysitter or caretaker expenses for children at home, and financial compensation for lost workdays for one primary family member. Furthermore, every recognized veteran with a 20% rating or higher is entitled to an annual Convalescence Leave (Dmei Havra'a), funding 5 to 10 days of vacation or rest in approved hotels across Israel.

סעיף מקור מס' 4
